

I stand with pregnant & parenting students

More than one in five college students are parents. Considering that the purpose of education is to equip and empower students, regardless of their status, students should never be forced out of earned scholarship, financial aid, or athletic opportunity due to pregnancy.

Sign this form to join us in asking all academic institutions and coaches to empower pregnant and parenting students through better resources in accordance with the law, so women can have their babies and achieve their dreams.
